OPPORTUNITIES FOR LIVING ACTIVELY IN OUR COMMUNITY

Thursday, 5/28 • 11:00am

Whether you're eager to join a sports team or simply want to get up and off the couch, there are plenty of opportunities right here in our community. However, it's not always that easy; for some individuals, participating in new or repetitive activities may result in discomfort or even injury. It's essential to learn how to protect yourself while still pushing your body to strengthen muscles before they weaken or, even more crucial, to prevent a fall! This presentation will offer insights from a Physical Therapist regarding injury prevention.

Also included will be a tour and demonstration of how to properly use Goebel Adult Center's Rotation Station (outdoor fitness equipment).

Presented by: Annette Broersma, M.S.

Seating is limited; reservation required.

To reserve a seat, call 805-381-2744, email gacc@crpd.org, or visit the GACC front desk.

Immigrants to the greater Los Angeles area have brought unique culinary traditions, some of which have become mainstream and a part of our everyday lives. Richard Foss examines these migrations and highlights seven popular dishes. A journalist and culinary historian based in Manhattan Beach, Foss has contributed to over thirty publications and authored two books, including "Rum: A Global History."
